| Project Name | Scale-up of Circles Model – Further Enable Girls to Lead |
| Grant Start Date | May 2016 |
| Kind of Grant | Sustained Program Funding Grant |
| Program Design Outcomes | Increased Community Management of weekly Colorful Girls Circles programs in order to sustainably scale-up: |
| Phase One (about 2 years) | Core group of facilitators and trainers
Develop training curriculum based on set of Colorful Girls facilitator core competencies
Publish and share Colorful Girls curriculum
Develop and prepare supplementary training modules
Hire Partnership Coordinator |
| Phase Two (about one year) | Move young women who were formerly participants into the position of community facilitator |
| Funding for this Program | In addition to Dining for Women, we have received funding from Taiwan-based Ing Foundation for this project. Their support will support salaries and other costs towards the scale-up. |
| Any organizational changes since the proposal | Girl Determined has registered as an independent US 501(c)3 since the initial proposal, which was reported in the last report and email updates. We have expanded our US Board of Directors to five members - all women - who are experienced in either international humanitarian and development work or have a background in Burma studies and political analysis. We are continuously supported on the ground by an advisory board of all women from Myanmar. |
| Challenges and how we are dealing with them | Major challenges with project implementation and organizational development in the past months have been with regards to dramatic shifts in the political landscape with gross human rights violations being exacted against Myanmar Muslims living in the Western, rural part of the country. The tension and misunderstanding of many Myanmar people with regards to this violence perpetrated by the national military has led to confusion and mistrust widely. Though the tension and confusion has not resulted in direct incidence within our team or project communities, overall there has been a slow down of work and a bit of a fracturing throughout the staff based on agreement/disagreement with the Myanmar military's actions. We have faced this challenge through open discussion across the staff members and also small group discussion held by leadership team. These are deep-rooted problems in the country and the violent clearance operations in recent months have brought up long-standing tensions. We will continue to discuss and to work from the standpoint that we are all women and girls to develop deeper sense of empathy which we may be able to move into direct action into the future. |
| Objective - any change? | No change in project objectives. |
| Progress against each stated objective | Phase One (about 2 years) Core group of facilitators and trainers - We have strengthened and solidified our leadership team in the past year. This comprised all of the Program Coordinators as well as the regional Coordinators. Current appointees are advancing organizational goals and have the intent for a long-lasting relationship to the organization and to adolescent girls' rights. Great team! Develop training curriculum based on set of Colorful Girls facilitator core competencies - Training curriculum and core competencies have been drafted though full training curriculum handbook has not been finalized. Training Coordinator had some pregnancy-related complications and so had to take time off. Her position is not one in which we can secure another qualified person to advance the project in her absence. Publish and share Colorful Girls curriculum - We have shared Colorful Girls Curriculum to several members of our NGO and CBO networks and are building their understanding of the importance of advancing adolescent girls' rights and leadership skills. |
| Completion timeline | Develop and prepare supplementary training modules - No yet fully underway, but we are working to identify key elements needed for upcoming development of future facilitator training support material - ie. making home visits, how to make the most of journaling etc

Hire Partnership Coordinator - Not yet. We have not appointed a Partnerships Coordinator but continue to advance partnerships through existing staff members and networks.

Phase Two (about one year)
Move young women who were formerly participants into the position of community facilitator - This is already underway and in 2017 we have placed and/or hired 22 young women, former participants as Colorful Girls Circles Facilitators, Colorful Girls Sports Coaches, Girl-led Media Magazine Editor and office staff.

All activities are on-track and we expect to achieve our scale-up objective by the close of the project period. The only change may be that we choose not to hire a Partnership Coordinator. So far all other Program Coordinators are pleased with the way that partnerships are working without such a position being filled and operational.
